NEW YORK DESAIL FRIEN. M. SET S. 1860. TR. P. R. SELVE.

THURSDAY, March 4-6 P. M. The inaugural address of President Grant was looked for with great interest in Wall street to-day, and business was less active in certain branches, through business was less active in certain branches, through a desire to await its delivery and ascertain its tenor. The simple, straightforward and honest character of the document when it did appear was as much supprising as would have been a lengthy sensational oration full of would-be crudite financial theories. The portion of the address canvassed by Wall street is very short, and proposes the honest payment of the national debt and the proper enforcement of the forence laws to secure that object. Presiden Grant commits himself to the payment of the bonds in gold, but thinks specie payment will be readily resumed if the leaven of repudiation be entirely expunged from the policy and councils of the nation. His declaration on this point to-day was simultaneous with the "pocketing" of the Schenck bill by taneous with the "pocketing" of the Schenck bill by the retiring President, and the effect of the one remedied the effect of the other upon government securities. In gold the effect was not so visible.

The market for governments was steady at the opening and improved up to the noon session, when there was a sudden advance predicated upon large orders from abroad and upon an improvement in the London price, which at the afternoon board was 82%. In the midst of this conteur de rose condition of things word was received that the Schenck bill had not received President Johnson's signature and, therefore, would have to go over for re-enactment by the Forty-first Congress. The depression caused by this announcement was more than the foreign advance could sustan; for it was felt that sooner or after would also give way under this news the last advance to 82% being founded on the final passage of the bill on wednesday afternoon. The address of President Grant was next received and had a reviving effect, the market recovering slightly the general list, but actively for '62's, which are so largely dealt m abroad and were subject, therefore, to the restora-tive effects both of the speech and of the foreign advance in price. The elements influencing the government market were thus very curiously assorted. How they will operate in London and Frankfort re-mains to be seen. The following were the closing prices on the street:—United States sixes, 1881, registered, 11414 a 115; do., coupon, 115% a 110; do., 113/3 a 113/3 a 113/3 a 113/3 do., coupon, 185/2 115/3 do., 185/4, registered, 112/4 a 113/4 (do., coupon, 1862, 118 a 113/4; do., new, 1895, 112/4 a 112/4; do., 1865, 112/4 a 112/4; do., 1867, 112/4 a 112/4; do., 10-40/8, registered, 104 a 104/4; do., coupon, 105/4 a 106; currency bonds, 102/2 106/ 2013 8 102

the retiring President signed the Currency bill requiring five bank statements during the year, on days to be fixed by the Comptroller of the Currency, and prohibiting the certification of checks when there are not sufficient deposits to pay them to the credit of the drawers. It is therefore a law. The effect of the portion referring to the bank statement will be likely to check the present contractile move-ments of the banks in preparation for the April ex-hibit, or perhaps the Comptroller will allow the banks to go on as at present, confining the time by selecting the first Monday in April, after which he will shoose his own times. Money to-day was not as active at the opening as yesterday, but seven per cent on governments and seven per cent in coin on mison governments and seven per cent in coin on mis-cellaneous collaterals were the prevailing rates, with axceptional additions of a concession of one-six-teemth. Nor late in the day was money so easy as yesterday, the rate being six and seven per cent to the close. Commercial paper was dull, but sales had an upward tendency and were quoted about a haif per cent higher, the course of discounts following the interest rate on call loans. There was a firmness to the tone of the gold market which was unaccountable in the face of an improvement in bonds abroad and the conservative and hopeful character of President Grant's inaugural address. The price, after opening at 131%, went up address. The price, after opening at 131%, went up to 132 in the forenoon despite a series of very heavy sales by foreign houses, who were supposed to base their action on private despatches from Washington. The price frequently fluctuated between 131% and 131%, and finally went as low as 131% when the inaugural was read. It merely touched this figure, however, rose again an eighth to a quarter per cent, and maintained its steadiness at the advance. The foreign bankers were either mistaken as to the course the market would take, or, which is more probable, did not take into their calculation the effect of the causes which operated adversely in the government bond market. Doubtless they were not informed of these more important induences by their Washington correspondents, and influences by their Washington correspondents, and bence, when their heavy sales should have had the effect of breaking the price, their influence was more than counterbalanced by the causes referred to in the first paragraph, and the premium maintain ed an equilibrium between the operation of opposite ten-dencies. This is the best explanation of which the fact is susceptible. Cash gold was in good demand, but the activity of the money market was reflected at the Gold Exchange Bank amounted to $86,648,000. The gold balances were $1,196,667, and the currency balances $1,662,862. The range in the price during in prices, who have entered the lists simultaneously with a contractile movement on the part of the banks, gradual and steady, as witnessed in the last two exhibits, preparatory to the quarterly statement, were boidly met by the "bulls," who have so much at stake. The present should be the period of the greatest case in money, and the gradual contraction of the banks would be imperceptible were it not for artificial influences which are now at work to make money active. The passage of the bill changing the law will doubtless have a salutary offect, and may be the means of unlocking salutary effect, and may be the means of unlocking the present combination. At the opening of business salutary effect, and may be the means of unlocking the present combination. At the opening of business the railway list was very weak, but recovered at the board. Slight and frequent fluctuations continued throughout the day. The Northwestern and Rock Island stocks were depressed by the renewal of the Fuller bill and its passage in one branch of the Illinois Legislature. The miscellaneous list was more active, Mariposa preferred taking the lead and selling as high as 33%. Pacific Mail fluctuated between 99% and 100%. The express stocks were the most buoyant and active of the whole list, United States recovering about ten per cent, one of the directors coming on the street as a heavy purchaser. The relations between the operators in this stock and the Eric clique are of such a character as to suggest collusion for stock gambling purposes. The market at the close was "off" again for the railway list and firmer for express stocks. The closing prices of the last open board were as follows:—Cumberland, 37 a 37%; Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, 30 a 31%; American Express, 42% a 43%; Adams Express, 61% a 61%; Merchants' Union Express, 16% a 17; Quicksilver, 24 a 25; Canton, 57% a 69; Mariposa, 14 a 14%; do. preferred, 33% a 33%; Pacific Mail, 90% a 100; Western Union Telegraph, 36% a 36%; New York Central, 157% a 168; Hudson River, 135% bid; Harlem, 154 a 136; Reading, 90% a 40%; Bankers' and Brokers', 100% bid; Wabash, 66%

Immigration into South Carolina.—The Newberry (S. C.) Herald of February 24 says:—Since our last issue some twenty or more immigrants arrived here, the most of them being engaged on farms near town, while others are on the way and will be here during the course of the week. We are pleased to see this evidence of progress on the part of the farmers, and look forward to the day, which we firmly believe is not far distant, when these industrious people will be scattered broadcast over the whole district and State.
